It is expected that approximately 318.2 million New Shares will be issued under the Equity Raising across both the Institutional Placement and the Conditional Placement (comprising approximately 63.0% of Terragen's existing issued capital).

Terragen's Managing Director and CEO, Richard Norton commented:

"Terragen operates in markets estimated at $28 billion, spanning cropping, intensive animal feeding, companion animals, and domestic gardens.

Terragen's patented microbial strains are delivering meaningful productivity gains across agriculture. Its library of proprietary strains lifts crop productivity and have delivered returns on product investment of up to ten times for intensive beef and lamb feedlots. Last year, Terragen's biostimulant ranked first in independent testing against 21 competitor products for its ability to rapidly decompose organic waste.

Terragen is advancing a suite of naturally derived bacterial products designed to increase productivity across multiple sectors. Current development priorities include its canine probiotic and companion animal range, domestic garden biostimulants, and high-value crop applications.

Terragen remains focused on accelerating market adoption and drive long-term, sustainable growth and the Equity Raising will assist Terragen to continue to pursue global distribution partnerships to expand its presence in the beef, lamb and high-value cropping markets.

Dr Michele Allan AO, the new Chair of Terragen, commented on the Equity Raising: (Effective close of business 5th February 2026)

"The Australian market for biostimulants has now grown to approximately $200 million per annum. The impact that biostimulants and probiotics have on productivity can no longer be underestimated, and Terragen provides investors with a compelling opportunity in this rapidly expanding sector.

Globally, markets are increasingly prioritising climate-smart food systems that reduce emissions and use nature-based products to lift productivity. Terragen is strategically positioned to benefit from this shift as we continue to focus on productivity gains for intensive feeding systems and high-value crops.

Terragen remains committed to building a future of healthier animals and higher-yielding crops through scalable, technology-enabled organic solutions that lower emissions and promote soil health.

The Equity Raising enables Terragen to continue research and development to support commercialisation, while reviewing distribution and manufacturing pathways for Terragen's product range."

The Board believes the Equity Raising will support Terragen's strategy to accelerate commercial adoption and strengthen the Company's operating foundations for long-term growth.

The Equity Raising is not underwritten.

Purpose of the Equity Raising
